

SUPPLEMENTARY MATERIAL

From Visual Exploration to Storytelling and Back Again

Samuel Gratzl¹, Alexander Lex², Nils Gehlenborg³, Nicola Cosgrove¹, and Marc Streit^{1*}

¹Johannes Kepler University Linz, Austria

²University of Utah, United States of America

³Harvard Medical School, United States of America

*Corresponding Author: marc.streit@jku.at

Gapminder Usage Scenario

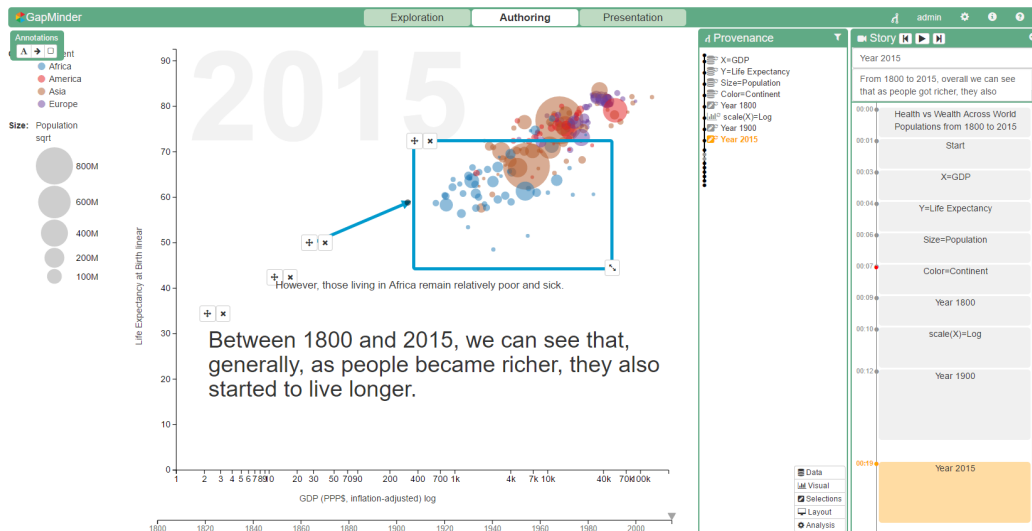

Figure 1: Screenshot of the Gapminder-inspired application showing the same state as the usage scenario in authoring mode.

Vistory: <http://vistories.org/v/gapminderA>.

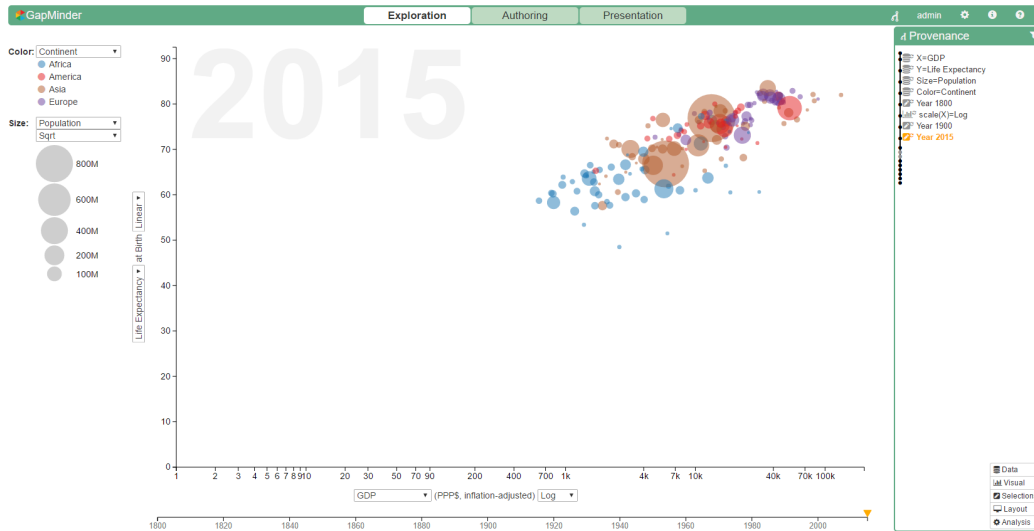

Figure 2: Screenshot of the GapMinder-inspired application showing the same state as the usage scenario in exploration mode.

Vistory: <http://vistories.org/v/gapminderE>.

GapMinder Supplementary Figures

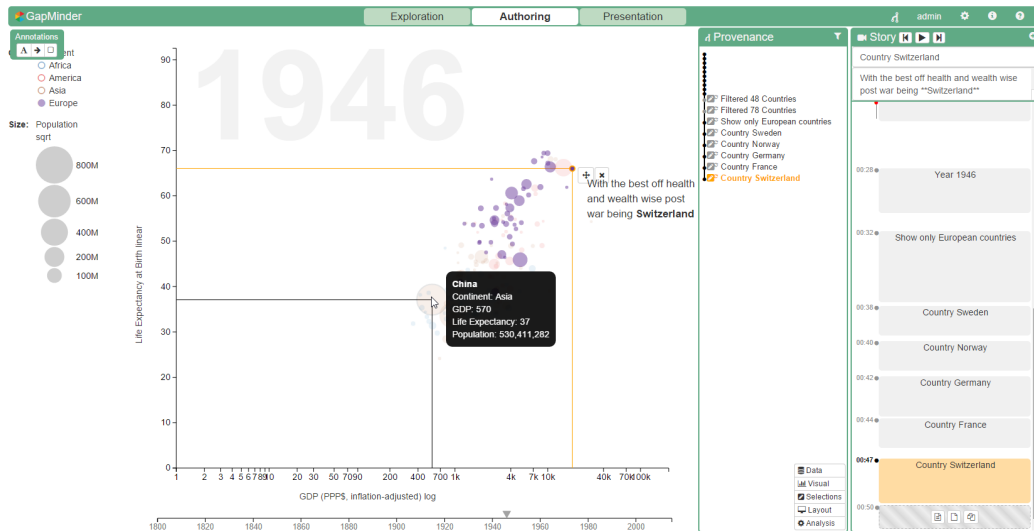

Figure 3: Screenshot of the GapMinder-inspired application in authoring mode showing the combination of selection with annotation and custom mouse interaction.

Vistory: <http://vistories.org/v/gapminderTooltip>.